

Extract from Mr. W. Helm's letter to Miss Mason,

"Your system is wonderfully attractive and helpful, and it is surprising what an all round education a boy receives, when his lessons are the happiest times of the day. Oh, that I-could have been taught on the same lines in early days. I am thankful for my boy's sake, and for Phil going on later."

P.U.S. SUCCESSES FROM HOME SCHOOLROOMS.

Mrs. T.D. of Weston-super-Mare, writes:-

"I taught my small son in India about 6 years ago and when he went to his preparatory school he was so well placed and so enjoyed his work that his headmaster asked me how he had been taught. I told him of the P.N.E.U. and now they have a P.N.E.U. teacher for the younger forms."

October, 1931.

Mrs. H. of Natl<sup>a</sup> writes:-

"P has just won the scholarship to Michaelhouse, which was rather unexpected, as he is a year under age and the competition was keen." The boy was taught at home except for the last few months.

December, 1932.

Mrs. R. reports that her son has taken two scholarship entrance examinations and has been offered one of 50 guineas a year and an additional bursary of £20 and one of £60 a year. He was taught by his mother in Japan and then went to a P.N.E.U. boys' preparatory school in England.

March, 1933.

Mrs. R. writes:-

"In her School Leaving certificate J has got exemption from Matriculation and Distinction in English and credits in Art, French, Botany, Mathematics, Scripture, and History." She has been taught at home by an Ambleside student.
